

Dear FCC,

I am concerned by the news that the FCC plans on lifting the restrictions upon which media holdings are limited to individual corporations.

I feel that this is a dangerous step towards further consolidation of media, public information, and civil dialogue, and am fearful that it will signal a definitive anti-democratic swing in US media.

Please do not make these changes; if anything, past actions (such as the Telecomm Act of 1996) should be reversed, in order to stimulate media competition.

Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,
Dana Williams
The University of Akron